

EMBODIED DEPENDENCIES AND FREEDOMS: ARTISTIC COMMUNITIES AND PATRONAGE IN ASIA

VIRTUAL WORKSHOP
OCTOBER 14–15, 2021
ONLINE VIA ZOOM

hosts the Cluster of Excellence “Beyond Slavery and Freedom”, which aims to overcome the binary opposition of “slavery versus freedom”. We approach the phenomenon of slavery and other types of strong asymmetrical dependency from methodologically and theoretically distinct perspectives.

This international conference brings together specialist from different disciplines, focusing on Asian artists and their communities. All conduct research on extreme forms of dependency and the freedoms found within these contexts.

The life and practice of traditional Asian artists are governed by a number of different forms of dependence. This can be the financial reliance on sponsors, such as private benefactors or religious institutions. Furthermore, they are bound by religious texts, such as iconographic, iconometric or architectural treatises, dance manuals, the formalized canons of various religious schools or by religious, sectarian, social and gender conventions. On a more basic level, especially architecture is governed by the local climate and depends on the availability of building materials. These and other issues will form the focus of this symposium.
